Tenant's Rights

GOAL ▶ Write a formal letter

A DETERMINE Look at the pictures. Do you ever have these problems in your home? Are you a do-it-yourself person or do you call someone to make repairs?

a. The air conditioner isn't working.

b. There are roaches and mice in the kitchen.

c. The electricity went out.

d. The faucet is leaking.

B Who can you call to fix each problem? Match the person with the problem.

1. ___c___ electrician
2. _____ handyman
3. _____ exterminator
4. _____ plumber

C Practice the conversation with a partner. Use the situations in A to make new conversations.

Tenant: Hello. This is John in Apartment 3B.
Landlord: Hi, John. What can I do for you?
Tenant: The air conditioning in our apartment isn't working. (State the problem.)
Landlord: OK. I'll send a handyman over to fix it tomorrow. (State the solution.)
Tenant: Thanks.

D Indira had a bad night in her apartment. Read about what happened.

I had a terrible night. While I was making dinner, I saw a mouse. Then the electricity went out while I was studying. It was dark, so I went to bed. But I couldn't sleep. The faucet was dripping all night. The neighbors were shouting and their dog was barking too. Perhaps I should move!

E Study the charts. Then underline examples of the past continuous in the paragraph in D.

Past Continuous
Subject	Be	Verb + *ing	Example Sentence
I / He / She / It	was	making	I was making breakfast.
You / We / They	were	studying	They were studying.
Use the past continuous to talk about things that started in the past and continued for a period of time.

Past Continuous Using While
Subject	Be	Verb + *ing	Example Sentence
I / He / She / It	was	making	While I was making dinner, I saw a mouse.
You / We / They	were	studying	The electricity went out while we were studying.
To connect two events that happened in the past, use the past continuous with while for the longer event. Use the simple past for the shorter event. Note: You can reverse the two clauses, but you need a comma if the while clause comes first.

F Use while to combine the two sentences.

1. He was sleeping. The phone rang.

   While he was sleeping, the phone rang. (or) The phone rang while he was sleeping.

2. Joshua was painting the cabinet. The shelf fell down.

3. I saw the crack in the wall. I was hanging a painting.

Tiny House Living

A recent trend in the US is tiny houses. A tiny house is usually 300 to 500 square feet and many times, these tiny houses have wheels so they can be moved around to any location. Sounds great, doesn't it? While there are many advantages to living in a tiny house, there are also some disadvantages.

A tiny house is just like any other house, except smaller. It has all the amenities of a regular-sized house, such as air conditioning, a washer / dryer, a stovetop, and sometimes a bathtub. Also, building a tiny house is much cheaper (average cost $30,000 to $75,000), and once it's done, you will have fewer and less expensive bills. And imagine how little cleaning you will have to do if your house is smaller! Tiny houses require that you downsize and live a simpler life.

A tiny house may sound like a good idea, but it may not be the best life for everyone. Having a smaller space means not a lot of storage, no buying in bulk, and no room for leftovers. Cooking will take some getting used to with your small counterspace and smaller oven. And with your smaller kitchen and cabinets, you will be going to the store often. Many tiny house owners end up eating out instead of cooking at home. If you like to entertain, you will have less space for guests. And you may be cleaning all the time because your tiny house can look cluttered very quickly.

Only you can decide if tiny house living is right for you and your family. You must think about the pros and cons and decide if it's a lifestyle for you. But wouldn't it be fun to have your house on wheels and wake up in the mountains one morning and on the beach the next?

This is the interior of a narrow boat which is also a tiny home.
