UNIT 1

Review: Be
Subject	Past	Present	Future
I	was	am	will be
You / We / They	were	are	will be
He / She / It	was	is	will be

Review: Simple Verb Forms
Subject	Past	Present	Future
He / She / It	studied	studies	will study	English every day.
We	put	put	will put	our studies first.
They	worked	work	will work	too many hours.

Future Perfect
Subject	will have	Past Participle		Future Event—Time Expression
I	will have	become	a teacher	by the time my kids are in school.
He	will have	been	a graphic designer (for five years)	when he turns 35.
They	will have	found	a job	by 2017.

We use the future perfect to talk about an activity that will be completed before another time or event in the future. present X future to be completed (perfect) X future event with time expression

Note: The order of events is not important. If the future event with the time expression comes first, use a comma.

Example: By the time my kids are in school, I will have become a teacher.

Afaq-lc.com

UNIT 2

Past Perfect Continuous
First Event in Past					Second Event in Past
Subject	had	been	Verb + *-ing
Kimla	had	been	buying	designer clothes	before she started bargain hunting.
He	had	been	buying	coffee at a coffee shop	before he began making it at home.
They	had	been	paying	a lower deductible	before they called the insurance company.

Uses

- We use the past perfect continuous to talk about an activity that was happening for a while before another event happened in the past. For the most recent event, we use the simple past.
- Remember to use a comma if you put the second event as the first part of the sentence. Before she started bargain hunting, Kimla had been buying designer clothes.

UNIT 4

Causative Verbs: Get, Have, Help, Make, Let
Subject	Verb	Noun / Pronoun	Infinitive (Omit to except with get.)
He	will get	his handyman	to come.
She	had	her mom	wait for the repairperson.
The landlord	helped	me	move in.
Ming Mei	makes	her sister	pay half of the rent.
Mr. Martin	let	Ming Mei	skip one month's rent.

Uses

We use causative verb structures to indicate that the subject causes something to happen.

UNIT 5

Adverb Clauses of Concession
Dependent Clause	Independent Clause
Although he spends a lot of time in Las Vegas,	he says he doesn't have a gambling problem.
Even though her sister spends thousands of dollars a month,	she doesn't think she is a shopaholic.
Though she has to drink two cups of coffee before she can get out of bed in the morning,	she is convinced she isn't addicted to caffeine.
In spite of the fact that he plays video games for three hours a night,	he denies he has a problem.

Explanation: Adverb clauses of concession show a contrast in ideas. The main or independent clauses show the unexpected outcome. The unexpected outcome in the third example is that it is surprising that she thinks she isn't addicted to caffeine.
Note: The clauses can be reversed and have the same meaning. Do not use a comma if the independent clause comes first in the sentence.
Example: She doesn't think she is a shopaholic even though she spends thousands of dollars a month.

UNIT 6

Appositives
Noun or Noun Phrase	Appositive	Remainder of Sentence (Predicate)
The ad,	the one with all the great pictures,	makes me want to buy those dishes.
That computer,	the fastest machine in the store,	sells for over $2,000.

Explanation:
- An appositive is a noun or noun phrase that renames another noun next to it in a sentence.
- The appositive adds extra descriptive detail, explains, or identifies something about the noun. If the appositive is taken out of the sentence, the sentence still makes sense.
- An appositive can come before or after the noun phrase it is modifying.

Example: A helpful gift, money is always appreciated by a newly married couple.

Note: Appositives are usually set off by commas.

Afaq-lc.com

UNIT 7

Noun Clauses as Objects
Subject + Verb	Noun Clause	Explanation
I did	what I was asked.	• A noun clause starts with a question word or that and is followed by a subject and verb. • In these examples, the noun clauses are the objects of the sentences.
She knows	how the computer works.
They decided	where the location would be.
My boss asked	who would be best for the job.
I hope	that they work as a team.

UNIT 8

Transitional Expressions
One reason	The first reason	Some people
⇓	⇓	⇓
Another reason	The second reason	Other people
Still another reason	The third reason	Still others

- Use these phrases to connect your ideas.
- Choose the set of phrases that works best for your topic.
- Don't shift back and forth among sets of phrases.
