Have the Ss answer the questions in class.

1 BEFORE YOU LISTEN

A What kinds of problems do people in different jobs have to solve? For example, an architect, a chef, or a store manager?

HANA LEE

@HanaL

This talk reminds me of my first boss. He described problems as "wake-up calls for creativity."

Have your Ss do the task for a couple of minutes. Then check the answers in class.

COMPLETE THE PARAGRAPH WITH INFORMATION FROM THE BOX.

analyze - occur to - mentor - seeking – barely maintained - relate - turn to

When I need help solving a career-related problem, I usually ___1___ a former boss of mine for help. Her name is Sucheng Wang, and she gave me my very first job in an insurance office when I was in high school. I haven't worked for Sucheng since I was a teenager, but when I'm ___2___ advice, she's the best person to ask. No matter what kind of situation I explain to her, even if it doesn't ___3___ to work, she has an amazing ability to ___4___ it quickly and find solutions that would never ___5___ me. The funny thing is that when I first started working for her many years ago,I thought she was kind of mean, but I can ___6___ remember those days now. The first time I went to her for advice was when I was trying to figure out what to study in college. She didn't tell me what to do, but she helped me figure it out for myself. That was when she became my ___7___ , and we have ___8___ that relationship ever since.
